Sale of Liquor on Sundays.

The temperance people of Philadelphia have won, through the law, a decided victory over the tavern-keepers of that city who have been in the habit of keeping open their establishments, and of selling liquor quite as freely on Sunday as on any other day of the week. The interpretation of the law heretofore has been that, in order to obtain conviction, it was necessary to prove the actual sale of the liquor, its drinking, and the precise kind of I quor drank. A committee of clergymen appealed to the Judges of the Court of Common Pleas for their interpretation of the law, and the Court, all three Judges agreeing, decided that the ofa witness sees liquor sold or drank, or it may be circumstantial, as where the proof is that bequor was handed in a tavern, or other public place, by the keep r, or his agent or servant, to one or more persons, just as would be done upon a | fear. As a Remedy in Majarious Fevers, Bowel week day, upon an ordinary sale of liquor at a bar or counter, or table where it is usually sold. Neither need the proof be positive that the article sold was wine, spirits or mais i quer; to prove that the place is a tavern or inn, a notel, a wine or beer, or other public house, and that it had the usual appointments and surroundings of a place where liquors are sold, such as bottles containing liquids resembling spirituous or malt liquors, wine or eider; that the contents of such bottles were sold or bartered, or even allowed to be drunk on the prem ises on Sunday, would be quite sufficient to warrant a conviction. Judge Allison, in giving the decision of the Court, also incimated that the temperance people had been in fault in not having the law enforced. He said:

"I desire to arrest the attention, in this connection, of citizens who are now, and have been so justly complaining of the open violatian of the law in this respect. By citizens I mean all classes, clergymen as well as laymen. No one of them wno has walked along the streets of our city on Sunday but has, or could have wirnessed the open and defiant violation of law by persons engaged in the sale of liquor by morely looking in at the open doors of taverns or beer houses, or stepping inside for a u inute on an Sabbath day, but especially in the evening of such days, attracted by the noise of many voices, or by the glare of the light by which these places are lighted up, but could have obtained the information requisite for the institution of a prosecution. Each one may ask himself what is his share of responsibility in this matter? To wink at the commission of a crime is to become a partaker in the guilt of the criminal. It is an easy thing to complain and denounce, and it may be hard and unpleasant to perform duty; but the obligation of duty remains nevertheless, and no one can neglect or refuse to perform it, and, with truth, say that he is wholly innocent. The sacred obligations of good citizenship rest upon each member of the community, and no one would or ought to try to excuse himself from bringing a

The decision of the Court was followed by a the very lowest cash prices. proclamation from the Mayor directing the police officers to strictly enforce the law and inform on all officeders. The result, the papers of proclamation from the Mayor directing the posay, was that not a drining saloon could be received a new supply of popular shades—one found open on Sunday last; there was very lit- and two buttons - at the nominal price of $1.00 tle side alley or back door business, and the and $1.25. city, even in its usually disorderly quarters, was quiet and peaceful.

THE MENNONITES .- The recommendation of President Grant to Congress relative to such legislation as will enable the Mennonites and other Russian emigrants to settle in a body in the United States is meeting with deserved attention. The Senate Committee on Public Lands will soon offer a bill making certain concessions, in order that these excellent people may be located by purchasing lands and entering homesteads on the same terms as our own countrymen. A bill is also before the House to enable this class of people to effect perma nent settlements on the public lands of the country in the manner they desire by complying with the terms of the homestead law, or by paying double minimum price in eash where lands are withdrawn for them upon railroads in alternate sections. The agents of the Russian Mennonites visited this city and various parts of the West last year, and were pleased with the country, and our mode of government. They are still in correspondence with the Secretary of the Interior upon the subject. These people speak the German language, and number about one hundred and fi ty thousand, and being intelligent, industrious, steady, and peaceful, they can not fail to prove a valuable acquisition to the population of the country .--Wash. Chronicle.

CURE FOR LCCKJAW. - A correspondent of the Scientific American recommends turpentine as a cure for lockjaw. He says: "Let any one who has an attack of lockjaw take a small quantity of turpentine, warm it and pour on the wound, no matter where the wound is or of what nature it is, and relief will follow in less than one minute. Nothing better can be applied to a severe cut or bruise than cold turpentine, it will give certain relief almost instantly. Turpentine is also a sovereign remedy for croup. Saturate a piece of flannel with it and place the flannel on the throat and chest, and in very severe cases three to five drops on a lump of su gar may be taken inwardly. Every family should have a bottle on hand." The remedy is simple and easily tested. In all serious cases an application should be made under needful

SUCCESSFUL AMPUTATION. - Dr. Wm. S. Alsop, county physician to the poor, performed a very difficult operation on one of the paupers at the poor house some three weeks ago, in the amputation of a leg near the body. The patient was a colored women by the name of Lydia, aged about thirty-five, who was suffering with the scrofulous diathesis, with anchylosius of the knee, and with extensive caries of the bones which made amputation necessary. The danger of the operation was fully explained to the patient by the physician who told her that there were ninery-nine chances against her to one in her favor. Notwithstanding the great I Shamons' Liver Regulator, and Solution should be performed. Dr. Durett assisted Dr.
Alsop in the operation. The patient is now fast recovering and in a few days will, it is thought, be well.—Fredericksburg Ledger.
